

Subject

20 pts Questions Cognitive: (Wow, I learn?... Ok that is deep!)

- Why is this week's topic important for teamwork?

Conflict is very important to team work without it a lot of ideas would not happen and that limits just how much the team can do.

- How do plan on contributing to the team, besides completing your tasks?

My plan to contribute to the team, it by taking the time to use the I statements we learned in class to make our conflict productive not destructive.

- How does your experience relate to other experiences you have had?

In class we had an activity where we had some conflict discussing topics that were intentionally contentious I just shut down and had no interest in moving on with the conversation, and it helped me realise just how conflict adverse I am.

- How does your experience relate to other classmates' experiences?

I think a lot of my classmates in my team had a very similar experience with being very conflict adverse, so I assume, that we will have to work to not all completely shut down when any issues pop up.

- If this was a religion class, how would you relate this week's topic to the gospel?

I would relate conflict to the idea of there needing to be opposition in all things. That is how Adam and Eve were able to grow.